

CHAPTER 14

New Ideas

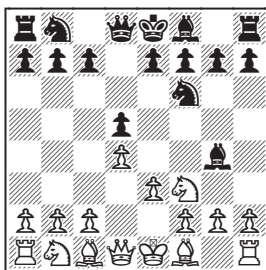

I've created this bonus chapter for all the veteran Zukertort players who may be uninterested in traversing my ruminations on lines they know so well and just want to see the novelties. While I would like to believe that even extremely experienced players have something to gain from the perspective I share on the various variations, I also wanted to make this book as valuable and useful as possible. So on the next 4 pages I give examples of 36 positions where I am suggesting something that is either new or at least under-developed in other texts.

In each position it is White's move. The number in bold indicates where the position is discussed.
